LAND LEAGUE AND ASSASSINATION. We learn that some of our Irish friends took unkindly the advice we ventured to give, last week, regarding a eassination. They say they pressed any sympathy with it. One of them aid to us that we must not cofound O'Denovan Rossa and such men with the Land Leaugue, as they are Fenian leaders, which is an entirely separate movement from the Land League. We will remark that we did not intend to convey the idea that any of the Irishmen of Doniphan County were in favor of assassination, for we do not think that any one of them is of that stripe. They are generally peaceable, hard-working people, and kind neighbors. Our advice was suggested, partly, by seeing the names of some persons who were to take a leading part in the proceedings of the day, whom we knew to be adventurers, with no real interest in the novement, but ready to help on and take advantage of any excitement—men who are leaders of Workingmen's organizations, Greenbackers, Socialists, Communists, Nihilists, and anything else that promises them a brief notoriety. We knew that such men would endeavor to lead the meeting to the endorsement of the most ertreme views, and the result showed that we were not far from correct.

tracts from O'Donovan Rossa's paper, which are most infamous. Crowe, of Peeria, attempted to carry out what Rossa advised. These men may ed a resolution declaring that if Topeka did not not belong to the Land League, but they are the style of men who will force themselves into any movement, and introde their infamous sentiments upon its policy. They are men of unbounded impudence, and professional agitators, know that the Capital cannot be moved by resoand are the most difficult to keep out of any wement. The closer they are watched, and kept from all connection with the Land League, the better it will be for that organization. Such men will be the first to betray the Irish cause for hire, and it is even now reported that some of them are spics in the pay of the

But it is a fact that cannot be disgnised, that some of the leading Land Leaguers are in full sympathy with the assassins. One Hartmann, refuge in America. It was feared that our Goverument contemplated giving him up to the Russian authorities, and he took refuge in Canada. A meeting of sympathy was held in New York, which was presided over by Mr. Haggerty, President of the American Land League, and which endersed Hartmann, and denounced any attempt to give him up. The President of the United States, guilty of no wrong against any man, has recently been the victim of one of this very same class of men, and is even now hovering be teet such miscreants, and no public man is safe, if they conceive the idea that he should be out than arrest and exterminate such villains. A SECOND LITERARY REVOLUTION.

The first literary revolution consisted in the publication of standard books in every department of literature, at from one-third to one-fourth their former cost.

The second literary revolution consists in a still further very great revolution (conditional) even from the revolution prices, while, at the same time, the average quality of the books will continue to be materially improved.

HOW CAN THESE THINGS IN!

To attempt an impossibility could, of course, result only in failure, and it would be meeless, in our own interest, or in that of the many thomand customers who have shown as such earnest favor, and have given as such great patronage, to announce or promise what could not be performed. We have dealt frashly with our customers in giving fasts concerning costs and profits in the past, and we do it now, by giving facts and figures illustrating how we can afford to still further reduce prices.

As some of our friends may question whether our estimates above given are perfectly safe, and as we have heard of some instances where the accuracy of figures previously given by us has been disputed by our enemies, we will say that the cost of the paper is put at 8 cents per pound, the cost of press work at $1.30 per thousand impressions, and the cost of hading at 16 cents per volume. THE PRACTICAL POINT.

We now come to the practical point, in which gos are interested—how you may get the books you want at the lowest possible cost.

It is evident that it can only be done by gour-doing away, so far as gos are concerned, with our immense expenditure for advertising, and with the commissions which we or you are compelled to pay the middlemen. If you buy through the middlemen. Another extremely important point in enabling us to afford the lowest possible price is, that we receive quick returns for the investments we have made. You resultly see that we have invested about 500.000 cash, before we are able to effer you a complete set of the Library of Universal Knowledge, at any price. We must sell a great many thousand sets before we can even get back the money which we have invested, to say nothing of the reward which we must have, in some measure, for our labor and the capital of the stockholders involved.

A large portion of the public still persist in getting their supplies of books through the middlemen, (who must be paid for their services,) instead of from we direct want as a layer expenditure for advertisir a direct want as a layer expenditure for advertisir.

ABDUT OUR OTHER PURLICATIONS.

As the present stock of our miscellaneous publications is now comparatively limited, and as our entire manufacturing resources will, in all probability, be, for mouths to come, taxed to the utmost by the manufacture of the Library of Universal Knowledge alone, we can not undertake to make an offer similar to the above upon the books covered by our miscellaneous list, except to the extent of our stock in hand. Until our samply is exhausted we will accept, in connection with an order for the Optopordia, under the above ofter, orders for any of our miscellaneous books, at the same rate of discount (one-thrid) from our list prices, but in all cases we shall require that orders for miscellaneous books, under these terms, shall be accompanied by the cash, as these books can be delivered at once, and cash orders will certainly soon exhaust our supply.

[United Irishman, June 4.]

The Irish race are scattered all over the world, and the English flag files all over the fuorid. In these two facts lie the secret of the ability of the Irish race to bring England to her knees. England can disarra the Irish people in Irishma, and then she can send in her horse, foot, and artiflery to shoot people downs but she cannot send out a regiment with every ship that carries her flag out into the world; and in war-as England is not war with Ireland now-belligerents make no distinction between war ships and ships of peace; they strike the enemy's flag wherever they can strike it, and when the Irish race take spirit enough to attack England that way, Ireland's independence is at hand. Therefore have we singested, and now suggest, that in any and in every scapes in the world where six men of Irish blood can be found, these six men should band together and be on the lookout for the English flag, with a view to distroy whatever that flag covers.

[United Irishman, June 4.]

You, Irishman in England's army and navy, are as guilty of maintaining the slavery of your country as the foreigners lesside whom, in the ranks of English's defenders, you fight!

You are therefore warned, solemnly warned, that your barracks will be blown up, that your skip will be sank', and if you are killed, mainted or erfoulded. (United Irishman, June 4.)

A large portion of the public still persist in getting their supplies of books through the uniddlemen, (who must be paid for their services.) Instead of from us discovery and as a large expenditure for advertising will also continue to be necessary, in finding out new customers, we must continue to be it of our present retail prices, in order that we may be able to pay to ensure the new form of the public still persist in getting will also continue to be necessary, in finding out new customers, we must continue to be necessary, in finding out new consistences, we must continue to be necessary, in finding out new consistences, we must continue to be necessary, in finding out new consistences, we must continue to find it our present retail prices, in order that we may be able to pay to be commissions to middlemen.

But because we are thus compelled to tax bookingers generally with these heavy expenses, there is no occasion why we should continue this ineavy tax upon gos, indicabately, if you choose to unite with us in avoiding it.

OUR PERIODSTRION TO TOU.

But Irishmen will bring you to your senses in the long rus. You threaten to hant them out of England; try it; the Irish would only want a little provocation to have at you. One dollar's worth of "modern science" can blow up a ship as well as a Gatling gun can do it. (United Irishman, July 16.) (United Irishman, July 18.)
The work that frightens and hurts England ro is the work she acreeches at Irishmen shou understand this, and should turn their attention such work, instead of spending their time, their saca work, moreas or speciming their time, their e-ergy, and money in sonstitutional and parliament ry agitation. If every Land League Club won-blow up a Doterel, England would not have as ships to take saddiers over to Ireland to evict the people. "Think well on it." [United Irishman, July 23.]

AMERICA NOT A BOTANY BAY FOR ASSASSIAS.—The American people are getting rather tired of being made the Betany Bay of Earopean assassins. They do not recognize nurrier as a justifiable political method. They detect assassination of rgiers. They hate all schenes of dynamite and torpesioes. When they recognize a grierous evil in their rulers they say so with free speech, and with not a linger raised in violence they compol the reform they demand. The law of violence is, so far as American politics are concerned, only known among the underlings, the stupid and drunken brutes who linger on the edge of parties. As to aslemn comprisely, involving the death of leaders of different opinion, there may be among our fifty millions ten or a dozen fools like Booth or Guiteau who think they can hard coase by killing its chosen leader.—Nearest Adrectizer.

Wicked for Clergymen.

Wicked for Clergymen.

"I believe it to be all wrong and even wicked for clergymen or other public men to be led into giving testimonials to quack doctors or vile stuffs called medicines, but when a really meritorious article, made of valuable remedies known to all, that all physicians use and trust in daily, we should freely commend it. I therefore cheerfully and heartily commend Hop Bitters for the good they have done me and my friends, firmly believing they have no equal for family use. I will not be without them."

Is IT THE SUPPRESSION OF WHENLY!—Bigamy and adultery are both beginning to be too common in this town, and it is about time the authorities were doing something to suppress both crifs. One or two right rightons and determined prosecutions would have a very salutary effect, and would improve the morals of the community wonderfully.—Lellog Reporter. Kansas, carries a ball in his head which has been there since the war. Dr. Blies, who is now with the Praisident, was one of his physicians, and would not allow the ball to be extracted. The other physicians said he would die, but Illies said no, and was right.

Suffering!

"Oh, My God, How I Did Suffer!"

66 have been afflicted for twenty years with an obst spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended, intil a year ago this winter, it sweered my entire person in form of dry scales. For the last three years, I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there could be nearly a dustpan full of scales ta-ken from the sheet on my hed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter, my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything almost, that could be thought of without re-lied. The 12th of June I started West is been I could lief. The 12th of June, I started West in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit, and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally One Dr. ______ treated me along two weeks, but did me ne good. All thought I had but a short time to live.
